FOSDA Commends Extension Of Ghana Gun Amnesty Programme:

PRESS RELEASE

24TH JANUARY, 2026

FOSDA Commends Extension Of Ghana Gun Amnesty Programme

FOSDA believes that extending the amnesty period will allow for wider dissemination of information, reach underserved communities, and provide additional opportunity for individuals who may be hesitant or fearful to voluntarily surrender illicit firearms. We further call on security agencies, particularly the Ghana Police Service, to sustain and strengthen their visibility, professionalism, and operational effectiveness throughout the amnesty period.

FOSDA has commended the Ministry of the Interior for extending Ghana's Gun Amnesty Programme to 30 January 2026, describing the move as timely and critical to curbing the spread of illicit small arms and light weapons. The extension comes amid a recent surge in armed violence, as reflected in FOSDA's 2025 Violent Incidents Monitoring, which recorded increasing gun-related incidents across the first three quarters of 2025 before a notable decline in the fourth quarter, attributed to enhanced security operations and the ongoing amnesty.

Through this support, WPC members are convening women, men, youth, and community leaders to discuss peace and security concerns, share non-violent conflict resolution approaches, and strengthen community resilience to radicalisation. These community deep-dives are translating the project's training investments into visible grassroots action, amplifying women's voices as peace actors, and building stronger, more inclusive relationships among community members in the fight against violent extremism
